Nina Corder

Nina Corder, Ed.D., is a social entrepreneur, community leader, and global advocate whose career spans more than 20 years in women's economic empowerment, leadership, and international development. Through grassroots activism, systems-level advocacy, and international diplomacy, she has helped more than 12,000 women and youth build careers through entrepreneurship training, networking, and mentorship. As Founder and Executive Director of Inclusive for Women Inc., widely known as Women of Toledo, Corder has raised over $2.1 million, launched regional initiatives such as HerHub, and championed key policy changes, including Toledo's Pay Equity Act (O-173-19) and the adoption of CEDAW (O-095-22). Her global impact includes serving with the U.S. Department of State's Professional Fellows Program, the World Academy for the Future of Women (a UN-affiliated NGO program) at Karatina University in Kenya, and the U.S. Congressional Open World Program, where she has worked with delegations from Ukraine, Moldova, and Hungary. She has also advanced cultural diplomacy, working with the Budapest District II municipality through the Helló Margit! All-Arts Festival and the Women in Change Festival in Hungary. Corder's expertise, grounded in human rights, equity, and global inclusion, has earned her recognition as a Certified Human Rights Advocate, Business Advisor, and Transformative Mediator. Her awards include the Jefferson Award for Public Service, the Ernest M. Pon Human Rights Award, and recognition as a UN Women Global Champion for Change.

Nicky Sulandari

Nicky Sulandari is a passionate community leader and financial advisor with over two decades of experience in the financial industry. Born in Indonesia and now a proud resident of Cleveland, Ohio, for 26 years, Nicky has dedicated her career to creating spaces for collaboration, growth, and empowerment, both in her professional work and in the local community. Since joining Edward Jones in 2016, Nicky has been deeply involved in shaping the financial future of her clients. However, her impact goes far beyond the world of finance. In 2016, she became an active member of the local Chamber of Commerce, where she spearheaded initiatives that led to a 45% growth in the chamber's membership in just two years. During this time, Nicky recognized a significant gap in regional collaboration and the lack of synergy among surrounding chambers. Motivated by a desire to foster greater cooperation and mutual support, she proposed the idea of bringing together local and international chambers. This vision led to the creation of the Collaborative Chambers Alliance (CCA) in 2019, a groundbreaking initiative that united 14 organizations in its first year, including chambers of commerce and nonprofit entities. Today, CCA has grown to encompass 23 local and international organizations.

Dr. David Kim

Originally from Chicago, Illinois, Dr. David Kim completed his medical education at the West Virginia School of Osteopathic Medicine, followed by a General Surgery residency at Mercy St. Vincent Medical Center in Toledo, Ohio. Grounded in the Osteopathic philosophy of treating each patient as a whole, Dr. Kim extends this perspective into his advocacy for gender equity and equality for all. He credits two strong female influences for shaping his outlook: his mother, Yung Kim, a caregiver and immigrant small business owner, and his residency director, Dr. Constance Cashen, who championed equitable education and representation of women in medicine. His greatest teacher, however, has been his wife, Erin Marten, whose work in social, gender, and health justice within the Toledo community has profoundly influenced his journey. In recognition of his service and advocacy, Dr. Kim was honored in 2022 as a HeForShe Toledo Champion for Change as a part of the UN Women's Solidarity Movement for Gender Equality.
